

Thank you for visiting the Alberta Government feedback web site. Following is the response to your question prepared by Environment and Parks :

Hello, thank you for your inquiry. Travers Reservoir is a multi-use facility, mandated to meet the needs of several diverse user groups and stakeholders. Currently Travers Reservoir is being operated within its licensed requirements. The reservoir has been in the process of gradual drawn-down to accommodate the final phase of Capital upgrades (i.e. construction), scheduled to begin at the end of September, 2016. The Operations Team is planning minimize further drawdown until roughly the first week of September to attempt to keep the reservoir level relatively constant to minimize the impacts to recreational users, and begin drawing down the level during the first week of September. This operation plan can and will change at any time with little notice, based on changing conditions within the drainage basin, changing downstream water demands, and demands of local stakeholder groups. Thank you again for writing.
